Katrina, the main character is the saga of what goes wrong in relationships. When her friend Chris finally convinces Katrina to leave her abusive relationship with John, he gets more than he bargained for. Once Katrina is out from under John's verbal and physical abuse, she looks for a man to offer stability and financial comfort to her and her daughter. Seeing Chris as more than a friend, Katrina insinuates herself into his life. She resents the fact that Chris is trying to rekindle a relationship with his ex and their child. Her jealousy and the negative advice Katrina receives from her girlfriends cause Katrina to make some very bad choices. As she becomes focused on stopping at nothing to get what she wants, Katrina creates plenty of other enemies. Even her neighbors don't like the way she's treating other people. It's not long before her selfishness, and disregard for the feelings of others ends her up in a terrible car accident that disfigures her. Ironically, this catastrophe may be just the incident that forces Katrina to take stock of her life and realize the effect her actions have on others. Lights, Camera, Mine! reduces adult relationships to the level of kids in a sandbox fighting over a toy. What you learn may change your life as it changes Katrina's. In spite of the tale of the basest of human actions, Lights, Camera, Mine! leaves the reader with an optimistic outlook.

Readers met Charlene “ Charlie ” Goodnight Myers in the novella “ A Christmas Cactus ” . Now Charlie is Mayor of Brangus, Texas. When a Hollywood movie company comes to town, the citizens of Brangus can ’ t wait to get into the action. Movie stars, mysterious strangers and a cruel director show up to enliven the plot. When a local socialite is accused of the murder of one of the movie staff, Charlie recruits her friends to help solve the crime. Readers will recognize Darci Tenant, Charlie ’ s wealthy best friend, and Manuela, now owner of “ Cowgirls and Curls ” beauty salon. The redoubtable Vessie Lou Culpepper and feisty Justine Longacre also pitch in to help find the killer. Along the way, Mayor Charlie works hard to take care of business for the zany eccentric citizens of Brangus.

In theatre, what does it take to put on an award-winning performance each and every night? It takes an unrelenting focus on operational excellence and exceeding the guest's Experience Expectation. It means bringing teams together, unified towards a common goal, with all the resources and support in place. It means being ready for SHOWTIME! Lights! Camera! Action! Business Operational Excellence Through the Lens of Live Theatre uses the lessons of live theatre to pull back the curtain on underperforming managers, teams, and organizations to deliver real-world, focus-oriented strategies to drive operational excellence. The framework delves into the foundational to the specific, and outlines practices and philosophies that leaders can script and direct, to ensure they put on show-stopping experiences customers and staff deserve. Are you ready for SHOWTIME? Imagine a world in which the majority of us put more love and care in being of service. Where people dare to be the exception, everyday.

Lights, Camera, Attraction is a best-friends-to-lovers steamy short college romance with a sexy bearded hero and a strong, curvy heroine. "Sasha is the most talented cinematography student I know, she's unbelievably beautiful, and she's the only woman I want. The only problem is, she's my best friend. We met four years ago as freshmen in Tempt University's legendary Film Production program, and I've been too afraid to ruin our friendship by telling her how insanely attracted to her I am. But one night during a particularly hot lighting test on my senior thesis movie set, sparks fly between us. With graduation right around the corner, this may be my only chance to make a move. It's time to man up and make Sasha mine." Dear Reader, This is the second book in the Film School series and can be read as a standalone. If you love sweet romance with scorching sex scenes, you'll love this fun college romance. No cliffhangers. This story takes place at Tempt University, where academic tensions run high and everyone is overdue for a sizzling, lust-fueled fling to get back on track (even the professors). Welcome to Tempt University! Yours truly, Anita ***** "Nice steamy short stories that has you hooked from the first page! I love Temp University and can't wait to read more!" 5-Star Review

Action, action, yet more action. No action film worthy of genre would be caught dead without its fair share of red-hot lead and no-holds-barred fisticuffs, high-octane pursuits and gravity-defying gymnastics. Then again, nonstop action soon wears thin absent a rooting interest in Last Man Standing First Woman to Cross Finish Line. Rooting interest inheres not in overt action, no matter how artfully choreographed or breathtakingly executed. Rather, rooting interest comes from empathy for the protagonist and, more precisely, from the dramatic action embodied by the protagonist's struggle to accomplish a worthy goal opposed by a formidable foe. Action is a double-edged blade, overt action being a necessary but insufficient condition to sustain viewer interest, which soars and ebbs to extent that dramatic action intersects with-injects meaningfulness into-gunplay and fistfest, acrobatics and pyrotechnics. Lights! Camera! Action! spotlights the essential elements of action comedy, action romance, and action adventure. It underscores the crucial distinction between overt and dramatic action, which a screenwriter must weave together in order for an action script to hum and shimmer, pulsate and zing.

Hester Greene loves making movies. With her camera in hand, she can focus, make decisions, and have the control she lacks in life, where her executive function disorder (think extreme ADHD plus anxiety) sabotages her every move. But middle school is not a movie, and if her last-ditch attempt to save her language-arts grade--and her chance to pass eighth grade, period--doesn't work, Hess could lose her friends, her year, even her camera. It will take more than a cool training montage to get her life together, but by thinking outside the frame, she just might craft a whole new ending. Written partially in script form, with STOP/PAUSE/PLAY/REWIND moments throughout, this laugh-out-loud story will speak to any budding filmmaker, or unintentional troublemaker, in every act of their lives.

Amigas is officially open for business! When the group is asked to take part in a reality show featuring quinceanera parties, they all jump at the chance. But being under the spotlight brings out the true colors of the group and before anyone can even cry "action!", Alicia is fighting with Gaz, Carmen is worrying about her vows, and Jamie is feeling left out. With the cameras rolling, will Carmen's party go up in flames?

Lights, Camera...Travel! Travel stories from screen storytellers including Alec Baldwin, Brooke Shields, Richard E Grant, Neil LaBute, Bruce Beresford and Sandra Bernhard. Since the ancient Greeks, actors have been society's storytellers. And ever since Hollywood first left the back lot, these storytellers have been traveling to far-flung corners of the world to tell those tales. We decided to ask some of the most widely traveled people in the film industry to sit down and tell us their own stories - personal, inspiring, funny, embarrassing and human experiences from their time on the road. Edited by Andrew McCarthy (Pretty in Pink, Less Than Zero, National Geographic Traveler contributing editor) and Don George (A Moveable Feast, Tales from Nowhere, National Geographic Traveler contributing editor).
